Statistics are not always boring. They seem to be what inept coaches hide behind to say "Give me another year." The 1983 Football team, Butler's first to win one of the eight coveted spots in the NCAA Division II play-offs, blasted that generalization by putting together a list of credentials to boast about — not to mention memories that will last a life-time.

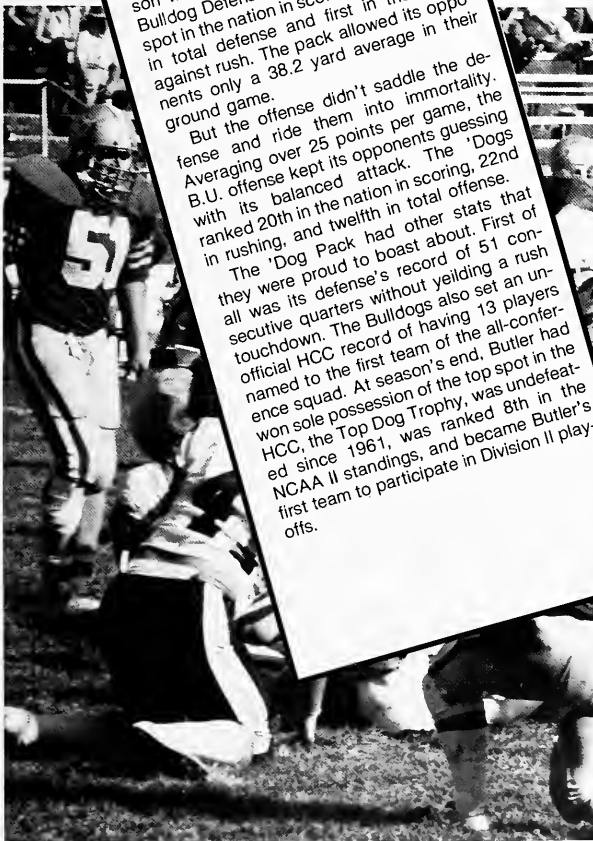

Riding the crest of their 7-3 1982 season, the Dog Pack rolled non-stop through their first seven opponents, earning national coverage. Defense tended to be the Dogs' rallying point during the early season. This down-and-dirty squad led by Captain Steve Torrence ended its season with some impressive numbers. The Bulldog Defensive team took the seventh spot in the nation in scoring defense, 26th in total defense and first in the nation against rush. The pack allowed its opponents only a 38.2 yard average in their ground game.

But the offense didn't saddle the defense and ride them into immortality. Averaging over 25 points per game, the B.U. offense kept its opponents guessing with its balanced attack. The 'Dogs ranked 20th in the nation in scoring, 22nd in rushing, and twelfth in total offense.

The 'Dog Pack had other stats that they were proud to boast about. First of all was its defense's record of 51 consecutive quarters without yielding a rush touchdown. The Bulldogs also set an official HCC record of having 13 players named to the first team of the all-conference squad. At season's end, Butler had won sole possession of the top spot in the HCC, the Top Dog Trophy, was undefeated since 1961, was ranked 8th in the NCAA II standings, and became Butler's first team to participate in Division II play-offs.

Steve Torrence and Steve Kollias close in on Valpo's quarterback.

Individual Bulldog efforts were also recognized on a national level.

Fifth year senior Curt Roy spear-headed the offensive attack by throwing for 22nd place in passing efficiency in the Division II standings. He was also 18th ranked for overall offensive player in our division.

Junior Eric Chapman also provided legs for the offense as he ended the season as the nation's ninth best rusher in Division II.

Junior Defense Back Dino Merlino and Sophomore Defense receiver Wayne Smith also put their names in Division II record books. Wayne ended the season with the title of ninth best defensive and dangerous punt returner. And Dino ended his season as the best thief, ranking ninth in interceptions in the division while playing most of the season with a broken finger.

Even the first round loss to top-ranked U.C. Davis in the play-offs didn't mar the Bull-Dogs' outstanding season. The close knit team silently stormed into immortality and quietly lived up to their personal motto. 1983 was truly "the year of the Dog Pack!"

Under the direction of Coach Joe Meadors, Butler's first women's Cross Country team displayed enthusiasm and a lot of character.

Although Meadors did not receive confirmation of the program until late in the summer, he was still able to attract twelve women to come out for the team.

The Lady Bulldogs competed in a very ambitious first season, running against Purdue, Indiana, St. Josephs and DePaul. Freshman Mitzi Lyons was voted Most Valuable Runner, consistently placing above the rest of her teammates.

Under the leadership of Captain Junior Trish Devine, the young squad directed most of its efforts towards the North Star Conference Meet. Their determination paid off, as the women placed fourth in the Conference meet held at Butler.

"The women were well prepared for that meet, and as a team it was our best meet both physically and mentally," added Meadors.

Since the Harriers had very little advance notice of the season, many were susceptible to injuries over the season. This was the case of Sophomore Lizann McGinnis. As the result of a freak car incident, she was able to compete in only the first and last meets of the year.

As the season wound down, the women found the mental side of competitive running difficult to adapt to, especially since none of the women had ever competed in a cross country race.

Looking forward to next fall, Devine and Sophomore Kathy Brusko are already training hard. Coach Meadors said that with the help of a few recruits, next year's team will be terrific.

The Bulldogs' cross country squad, under Head Coach Stan Lyons, may have been the most pleasant surprise of all Butler teams this fall. After finishing fifth in the Heartland Collegiate Conference a year ago, Lyons' freshman-dominated crew swept to this year's team title behind the strong running of HCC individual champion, freshman Ron Pepple.

Pepple was the number one runner for Butler all year. He was consistently Butler's top finisher in every race this year. He finished above all the other runners in both the HCC and the Butler Invitational. He also named the HCC's Most Outstanding runner, in addition to taking the Most Valuable Runner honors for the team.

Co-Captains Fred Newlin and Mark Carlson also proved to be very important for the team this year. As the squad's only seniors, they provided the necessary leadership for the young squad. The two runners also ran in the numbers two and three spots all year. Doing more than a normal captain does, the two shared the Mental Attitude Award.

At the beginning of the year, Lyons was hoping to finish in the middle of the invitations. However, the young squad averaged second, winning two of the meets and finishing second in four of the others. Lyons said, "The freshmen came along faster than expected. A pleasant surprise." The squad surprised the HCC by taking top honors in that meet as well as the Butler Invitational. With such a fine young squad, Lyons is ready to take it all next year as well.

Capturing second place in the North Star Conference Tournament was the season highlight for the women's tennis team. In this competition, on October 14-15, the team came out ahead of six schools; they beat DePaul, Dayton, Xavier, Valparaiso, Evansville, and St. Louis. Notre Dame, the host school, served the team its only tournament loss.

This year's season was one in which the 11-member team gained both experience and knowledge to prepare for next year. Coach Barbara Greenburg stated, "For as young and as inexperienced as we were, we really played very, very well." The team rounded out the season with a 9-9 record. Coach Greenburg also said that improving the record will be a major goal of next year's team.

Freshman Lisa Muscara, on describing her first year on the team, said, "Tennis was a great experience because I met a lot of nice people who were fun to work with on a team. Practice was a good outlet from studying and helped me stay in shape."

The Butler volleyball team started slowly but improved greatly as the season progressed. Team member Phyllis Majors commented, "We started out slowly. We had a real young team who had to learn the basics but after that we were playing a better game by the end of the season."

The team competed in the North Star Conference Tournament. They won their first game against Valparaiso but were defeated in their second match by Loyola of Chicago. This ended the team's record with 17-24.

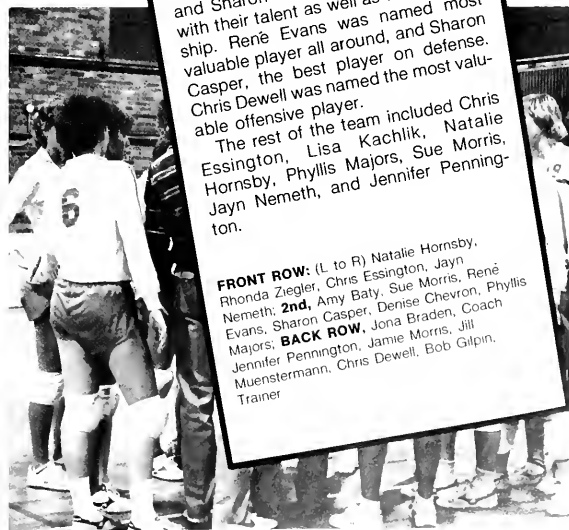

The only two seniors, René Evans and Sharon Casper, helped the team with their talent as well as their leadership. René Evans was named most valuable player all around, and Sharon Casper, the best player on defense. Chris Dewell was named the most valuable offensive player.

The rest of the team included Chris Essington, Lisa Kachlik, Natalie Hornsby, Phyllis Majors, Sue Morris, Jayn Nemeth, and Jennifer Pennington.

Surprising was the word most often used to describe Butler's 1983-1984 men's basketball team. But, Bulldog Head Coach Joe Sexson preferred to think of his squad in terms of "rapid maturity."

The Bulldogs entered the season with just one returning starter and very few reserves with any extensive experience.

However, Sexson's young team grew up quickly and not only put together a successful season, but came within a few baskets of an outstanding season.

"We believed all all along that there was talent on this team," said Sexson, who was named Midwestern City Conference "Coach of the Year." "Fortunately, we were able to get off to a good start."

That good start included five victories in the first six games, the best basketball start in 36 years. And, the Dogs' 13 wins in 28 outings surpassed all pre-season predictions and left the Bulldogs with a promising outlook for 1984-1985.

Senior Tim McRoberts was the lone returning starter from a year ago, and he provided the leadership the season with ed. McRoberts finished the season with the third highest scoring average in Butler's history, at 21.9. He scored in double figures for all of Butler's games along with three 30+ games. He finished his college career as Butler's 12th all-time leading scorer with 1,208 points.

Freshmen standouts included Chad Tucker and Darin Fitzgerald, who were named to the MCC All-Freshman team. Tucker led the NCAA Division I as the top field goal shooter with a .623 mark.

Junior center Tim Haseley led the team in rebounds with 191 for the season. Other outstanding performances were shown by senior Danny Jarrett, with 69 assists for the season; junior Larry Ikerd, with a .455 shooting mark; and junior Mike Burt, with a .745 free throw mark.

Head Coach Joe Sexson boasts four returning starters for next year's squad, and loses only two seniors. McRoberts, who in addition to being named team MVP, was also honored by being named all-conference by A.P. and U.P.I., honorable mention by A.P. for the All-American squad, and ranked among the "Top 25" scorers in Division I last year. He will be leaving the squad, along with Jarrett. However, with the undergraduates that Sexson has recruited for the team next year, it will be a very exciting season in Hinkle Fieldhouse.

Butler's women's squad, plagued by inexperience, suffered its first losing season in seven years, finishing with a 2-20 record. However, with 11 of the 12 players able to return next season and join a number of promising recruits, Butler's women's basketball team has an improved outlook.

During the 1983-1984 season, junior Sue Morris was the leading scorer for the Lady Bulldogs. Morris chalked up 427 points for a school record with a 19.4 game average. Morris will enter her senior year needing only 142 points to reach 1,000 career points, becoming the fifth women's player to do so.

Senior Elza Purvicius closed her collegiate career as Butler's all-time leading scorer and rebounder. In her final season with 1,517 career points and 1,050 career rebounds, Purvicius was named the Lady Bulldogs' Most Valuable Player for the 1983-1984 season.

The Lady Bulldogs came out on top twice this season. They barely managed to top Evansville in a 64-63 contest, and in a more decisive victory, they ousted St. Joseph's on their home court with an 83-77 victory.

With the end of the 1983-1984 season, several changes are in store for the women. Coach Linda Mason, who has served as the women's coach since 1976, closed her career at Butler with a 124-47 record. Last year Mason was named "Coach of the Year" for District Four of the NCAA Division II schools. Russ Sartaty, former director of the women's basketball program at Cathedral High School, will assume Mason's duties in the fall.

And, with the return of last season's team, except for Purvlicis, the Lady Bulldogs will venture for the first time into a women's basketball conference as they join the race in the North Star Conference. The women will be competing against Notre Dame, DePaul, Loyola, Detroit, Xavier, Dayton, and Evansville.

Despite competing with a squad composed of mostly freshmen, the Butler tennis team, headed by coach Nick Davis, still managed to rack up a second straight second-place finish in the Heartland Collegiate Conference. The team holds much promise for seasons to come.

The Bulldog's lone senior, Demi Allen, proved to be the leader that the young Bulldogs needed. As the number one singles player on the team, he took a second place finish in the HCC tourney. He then teamed with sophomore Joe Gentry to place second in the doubles competition. Allen also managed a sixth-place finish in the Midwestern Cities Conference.

Gentry, named Most Valuable Player for the team this year, placed second in his classification at the HCC meet. He posted the best record of any Bulldog this season with an 11-8 mark.

The youngsters also showed well for the team as freshman Mike Abramowski placed second in the HCC meet as No. 6 singles and freshmen Bryant Darney and Matt Witte took a runner-up finish at No. 2 doubles at the same meet. With five of the six top Bulldogs returning next season, the team should prove to be a powerhouse in both the MCC and the HCC.

Senior Captain Demi Allen was honored after the season by being named as one of twelve athletes to the District Four At-Large All-Academic team, chosen by the College Sports Information Directors of America.

The powerful smell of chlorine was an everyday part of life for the members of Butler's swim team. These students spent several hours in the pool every day to practice for meets and competitions.

During the successful season, records were broken by Mike and Mark Ahonen and Audry Reutell. The men placed third in the Heartland Conference.

The diving team also had a satisfying season. The team was coached by Ann Jordan. Its members included Jim Wilcox, Shelli Hoskins, and Denise Knappe. Records were broken by Shelli Hoskins and Jim Wilcox. Jim Wilcox competed in the Heartland and MCC Conferences and received second place. Wilcox said, "Considering the size of our team, we did a pretty good job and represented the school better this year than ever before."

Members of the girls swimming team included: Captain Tina Staubin, Besty Waugh, Cathy Clark, Kay Davis, Audri Reutell, Erica Aufderheide, Alana Wyatt, Kris Lederer, and Mary Kristek.

Members of the men's swimming team included: Ed Davis, Mickey Bryant, Bill Tedstrom, Dan Marsh, and Mike and Mark Ahonen. The swim teams were coached by Bob Waymouth.

A Bulldog swimmer finishes?

Butler's bid for its third consecutive Heartland Collegiate Conference title was stopped due to key injuries and a strong Ashland squad. However, the Bulldogs still bettered 26 of the 32 Bulldogs still faced this season on the way to a second-place HCC finish.

Through the season, Butler team members set three records. Senior Gregg Murphy set a new school pole vault record at 15'3", and the relay team of seniors Joe Bury, Bill Niederhaus, junior Mike Davidson, and freshman Tim Burton set a school mark in the 4 x 400 relay of 3:31.8. This same team captured one of Butler's three individual championships at the HCC meet. Mike Hockett took an HCC title, and he set the Little State Record in the 110-meter high hurdles with a time of 14.78, setting the record for the second consecutive year.

Butler also took individual honors in the HCC as freshman DeWayne Branson won the 100-meter sprint and freshman Ron Pepple took the 10,000 meters. Joe Bury was voted the Scott Hamm award by his teammates for outstanding contributions in leadership, scholarship, and ability.

Head Coach Stan Lyons will have to count on the younger members of the team as he loses nine seniors. He will have to depend on undergraduates Mike Hockett, Michael Poole, Branson Pepple, and Burton.

Butler's softball team encountered many problems this year en route to their first sub-.500 season in four years. In addition to suffering through a very wet spring, the Lady Bulldogs also faced a number of injuries to key players. The combination of these factors led the squad to compile a 6-13 record.

The season was not without its bright spots. Senior Rene Evans closed out the season as the team's leading hitter for the second consecutive season. She also finished as the team's leading pitcher. Sophomore Polly Kronenberger was an instrumental player this season and received the team's Best Defensive Player Award.

Eight of Butler's 19 games were decided by one run, and the Lady Bulldogs won only three of those contests. The team was .500 in games decided by less than three runs in their overall record.

The team looks to be much improved next season. Head Coach Barb Greenburg loses only two seniors, Most Valuable Player Rene Evans, and four-year veteran Jayne Mas. Ten letter-winners will return to the squad next year.

Adverse weather took its toll on Butler's baseball squad, raining out nearly half of the scheduled games. As a result, the Bulldogs could never get in the swing of things as they fell to a 10-18 season. Although the weather was a factor the whole season, the Bulldogs still managed to earn a second place tie in the Heartland Collegiate Conference Tournament and fourth place in Midwestern City Conference North Division.

Among the few bright spots in the rainy season, the brightest came when seniors Gordon Hanson, Joe Segarra, Vince Scherrer, and sophomore Rick Freese hit consecutive homeruns against Xavier University, tying a national collegiate record and marking the first time the feat was accomplished in Division I.

Sophomore Freese led the team in hitting with a .321 average, while senior Segarra led the team in home runs. Segarra and fellow senior Mike Blackburn both took top honors for runs batted in.

The top pitcher for the team, righthander Gary Bledsoe, won his last three starts en route to a 4-2 record. His most impressive victory was against the MCC's top offensive team late in the season. Although the team will be losing some very talented seniors, Head Coach Scott Neat has high hopes for the future with players like Freese and Bledsoe.

Third-year Intramural Sports coordinator Robin Williams improved the 1983-84 IM season by giving many of the sports minor facelifts. Some of the changes concerned the football season, which was brought back after a one-year hiatus. The playing fields were brought up to the Irwin Library lawn because of the construction of the new SJD building on the location of the old fields and William's concern to increase spectator attendance at the sports. The football season consisted of five games ending in a Round Robin Tournament. The men of Sigma Chi took top honors. Other changes included modifying playing schedules. The cross-country meet and basketball season were moved up so they wouldn't conflict with midterms or the weather.

In the fall, teams competed in football, golf, kickball, cross country, volleyball, archery, and swimming. The spring semester's schedule consisted of basketball, softball, track, badminton, racquetball, ping-pong, tennis, and billiards.

After the results from each sport were tallied, Schwitzer Hall unseated defending champ Alpha Phi for the over-all trophy in the women's division while for the fourth year in a row Tau Kappa Epsilon took home the men's trophy.

The Greek system at Butler is a vital part of many students' lives and RUSH is even more vital to each of the members in a fraternity or sorority.

This year the Fraternity RUSH was totally overhauled with major changes being RUSH counselors, formal tours, registration and how the men received the bids. Because of RUSH counselors some men felt more comfortable in RUSH, the registration enabled IFC to keep statistics, and formal tours enabled men to view all the houses. Bids were distributed in a formal fashion this year to prevent dirty rushing.

The women's RUSH remained basically the same with the women touring all the houses in a round-robin fashion. Each day the girls toured fewer houses those being the ones who received and accepted bids from. Rush counselor Teddi Joyce said that Panhel made it less possible for women to get cross-cut.

RUSH this year could be considered a great success for both women and men. As proved in this case, a change was definitely successful for RUSH.

"Only one more trip to the car," shout one freshman to her tired parents. The day was the first day of freshman orientation, and all freshmen were moving into their new rooms in the residence halls for a week of adjustments. The week of August 22nd to the 28th brought many new experiences to the freshmen as they became acquainted with the campus and college life in general.

Students were treated to a chicken picnic supper on the Atherton Mall after settling in, and later they attended their first orientation group meeting. Groups of about 20 students met with a faculty member and an upperclass student. The advisors gave the students information about Butler and answered any questions the students had. The orientation groups met twice more during the week to discuss the book 1984 and to learn about student affairs.

Throughout the week, "get acquainted" activities were planned for the freshmen to provide them with opportunities to meet one another. These began Tuesday with board games in Ross and continued through the week with a dance in the C-Club, a Hawaiian luau, an ice cream social, and the movie, The Wrath of Khan. Freshman Erika Muschitz commented, "My favorite event was the board games because it was the first real chance I had to meet people including my future Big Brother."

Lori Lekerczyk summed up her views concerning freshman orientation, by stating, "The activities helped me meet people and get to know people better. The week let me get a taste of what college social life is all about."

TKE Dave Calabro helps the new women of Alpha Chi move from Schwitzer to their new home.

The Theta pledges and actives could not be happier with their choices as they travel down the row, honking horns.

The Bid Day procedure, as well as RUSH was completely overhauled for the men as well as the women.

Instead of receiving verbal bids, the men received bid cards at the same time. The men were sent to 15 locations across campus where they had to sign the bid cards by themselves. That afternoon the men began to move into their new homes.

The women received their bids in the same fashion unlike in other years when they received them in Schwitzer. This procedure eliminated the "meat run" that was evident in the past. At this time the girls met all the new women in their house and paired for bedrooms. Fraternity men were recruited to help move the nearly 175 women into their new homes where they would begin their Greek Lives.

Later in the evening IFC and Panhel hosted a Greek dinner on the mall for all new and current fraternity and sorority members.

New Alpha Phi Pledge Allison Erickson is helped by her new sister Jackie DeSalvo as they move across the mall to their new home.

"I am an F ...
I am an F-R ...
I am an F-R-E-S-H-M-A-N!"

This was the theme song heard throughout the weekend at this year's Freshman Camp. Sponsored by the YMCA, Freshman Camp is an annual event for incoming freshmen. The camp is designed to help freshmen meet other members of their class and to give them a weekend of fun. Karen Anderson, YMCA Freshman Camp Director commented, "The freshmen who didn't go missed out on a good time."

On Saturday, September 4, 87 freshmen and 29 counselors and faculty boarded busses for the 40 mile journey to the Flat Rock River YMCA Camp. After settling into cabins and eating a picnic lunch, the freshmen started to get acquainted by participating in a "mixed-up shoes" game and a "people" scavenger hunt.

Activities became more strenuous in the early afternoon with a volleyball tournament, football game, and swimming. Most campers at the pool, however, were too busy playing keep-away, building pyramids, sunning themselves, and diving to do much serious swimming. After supper and humorous skits acted out by the counselors, the day's fun continued in the form of a dance with music provided by a local DJ. Campers boogied to the tunes and started new romances until they had used up the last of their energy; then, they drifted off to the campfire.

At the campfire, Counselors Carlton Howard and Tom Tierman attempted to scare the "naïve" freshmen several times with wild, bizarre tales, but the newcomers refused to be scared, or just refused to listen.

Everyone soon grew tired after their busy day, and went back to the cabins to catch a few hours of sleep before awaking early Sunday morning for a chapel service conducted by the counselors.

Later in the afternoon, the campers gathered at "Scum Lake" for the annual canoe race. Outmaneuvering their opponents, Mark Reardon and John Weaver became the new "Scum Canoe Champs." As in recent years, the race turned into a "scum throwing contest" with participants hurling slime at each other as well as the audience.

Like all good things, Freshman Camp drew to a close, but many will remember the fun they had and the friendships they made there. Freshman camper Cathy Crabel said, "It was a blast and a great way to meet new people from Butler. I had such a great time, I'd love to come back and be a counselor next year."

What comes to your mind when you hear "censored"? For the students of Butler University it meant a weekend of celebration sponsored by the men of Lambda Chi Alpha.

This was the 55th annual watermelon weekend at Butler, but this year the name was changed from Watermelon Bust to Watermelon Censored because of complaints of sexist connotations derived from the word "bust."

"A mutual decision was reached by the Lambda Chi and University Administration to change the name to something less suggestive," said Lambda Chi vice-president Steve Lemly.

A funeral was held with respect to the old tradition and the next day the festivities began.

The Women of Alpha Phi spit the furthest seed, and the men of Sigma Nu tossed the watermelon the best. Michelle Martin of Alpha Chi Omega won the watermelon eating contest. Two new events, the watermelon volleyball game and Ride a Watermelon, were won by Sigma Chi and Phi Delta Theta respectively.

The highlight of the day was the Best Dressed Watermelon contest which was designed by Greg Swartz to replace the sexist queen competition. The best dressed melon belonged to the Women of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

"An all-campus party Friday night ended the successful Censored," said Lemly. This was a kick-off for a year-long fundraising effort for United Cerebral Palsy. So even though the "Bust" was busted, "Censored" will continue as a Lambda Chi tradition.

The seventh annual Alpha Phi Sweepstakes competition was held on October 6th. The men of Butler battled throughout the warm October afternoon for the rights of the 1983 trophy. After running the rugged and challenging obstacle course, the fast paced skate race, and this year's mystery event, the human sundae, the winners were determined. The men of Delta Tau Delta and the women of Delta Delta Delta received this year's honors. Delt Steve Preusse was named Mr. Sweepstakes and Michelle Fishback of Kappa Kappa Gamma was voted this year's Queen of Hearts.

According to Tracy Lawrence, co-coordinator with Michele Pitts, this year's Sweepstakes was a success. The Alpha Phi's raised $300 for their philanthropy, the American Heart Association, through cookie sales and the Queen of Hearts voting.

Jami Egoft of Alpha Phi was chosen this year's Fall Fest Queen, with Susan Chester of Delta Gamma taking second place and Gina Poore of Pi Beta Phi capturing third place. The Queen candidates appeared before the judges in three different outfits: sportswear, casual wear, and formal attire. The contest was judged by faculty members and Tau Kappa Epsilon alumni.

Paired housing units competed in five events: Tug of War, egg relay, shopping cart relay, and pie eating contest. The overall winners in competition were Lambda Chi Alpha for the men's housing units and Schwitzer Hall for the women's housing units.

The spirit competition was judged by the housemothers of the fraternities and sororities on campus. Winning the overall men's spirit award was Phi Kappa Psi and the women's overall spirit award went to Delta Delta Delta.

Emcees for Fall Fest were Mark Carlson, TKE social chairman, and Dave Calabro.

The day's events were followed by an all-campus party that night at the TKE house, featuring the band "The Beat Boys."

A Middle Ages joust was the theme for this banner from the Women of Delta Delta Delta.

The ringing of the 11:50 bell on Friday, September 30, meant two things to students — early dismissal and the beginning of Homecoming weekend.

Homecoming is traditionally a time when alumni return to visit old friends and cheer on the football team. This year it was more than that as students played a vital role in all the activities.

Homecoming activities started like a "shot" Thursday as Alpha Phi Omega hosted a blood drive at which Delta Delta Delta and Phi Delta Theta gave the most contributions.

Crowds of students gathered on Atherton Mall Friday afternoon as the activities continued. While spectators kept a weary eye out for bees, the tug-of-war ensued with the Sigma Nu and Alpha Phi teams receiving the honors. The Alpha Phis were once again winners when paired with Ross Hall during the relay race.

The students then ventured over to Holcomb pond where the raft race was held. The men of Tau Kappa Epsilon and the women of Alpha Chi Omega came out soggy, but satisfied winners.

That evening Freshman Skits were held in Hinkle as the women of Alpha Phi once again took top honors followed by the women of Kappa Kappa Gamma and the men of Delta Tau Delta. A bonfire concluded that evening's events as the queen candidates and football players received special recognition, and the cheerleaders and Half-Time Honeys boosted the spirit of all those present.

Saturday morning was the beginning of many activities for alumni and students alike. A lunch was held on the mall which introduced specific alumni and the queen candidates with their escorts. The Butler swing choir, Pizzazz, performed and immediately following the parade began.

Led by the marching Bulldogs, the parade featured the Homecoming court riding in decorated cars with cheering fans walking alongside.

The parade ended at the Butler Bowl where the Bulldogs swept by the Valparaiso Crusaders to a victory. Banners decorated the field with the Lambda Chis receiving the top honors.

At half time the Marching Bulldogs performed, and the queen and her court were announced. Anne Sullivan of Kappa Kappa Gamma received the crown while Carol Harrison and Beth Holycross were the runners-up.

After the victorious game, students and alumni started to prepare for the dance that night at the Atkinson Hotel.

All agreed that the dance was a success and enjoyable as the music was up-to-date and a cash bar was provided. At the dance the queen and her court were presented roses, and the overall winners for Homecoming were announced. The overall spirit award was received by the men of Phi Kappa Psi and the women of Alpha Phi. Overall winners were the men of Lambda Chi Alpha and the women of Alpha Phi.

This annual event sponsored by the Butler YMCA is a housing unit competition centering on singing, dancing and acting.

Housing units were paired and directors were chosen as each group tried to out-talent the rest. The winners were the Women of Delta Gamma and the Men of Lambda Chi Alpha. Their ten-minute musical skit entitled That's Entertainment! was surrounded by backdrops and banners which were also judged. Second place was received by the Women of Alpha Phi and the Men of Phi Kappa Psi in their portrayal of Jitter and Jive revolving around the supposed generation gap that separates today's teens from their parents. The commuters and the Women of Delta Delta Delta received third place as they slipped into the Twilight Zone and pictured what Butler may be like in the distant future.

All agree that this year's acts out-talented many of the past. Other groups that performed were the Women of Alpha Chi Omega and the Men of Sigma Nu in Trash Dance, the Schwitzer women and the TKE men in Toy Land, the Kappa Women and the Delt Men in Sentimental Journey and the Men of Phi Delta Theta and the Women of Kappa Alpha Theta in Back to the Drawing Board.

When Butler students think of Spring, they think of warm weather, throwing frisbees, and getting a suntan. More importantly, however, the arrival of Spring brings to mind Spring Sing. This year housing units worked harder than ever before to make the 64th annual YMCA Spring Sing the most successful in history. In fact, this year's Sing set a new record in ticket sales.

The women of Schwitzer Hall and the men of Delta Tau Delta began the evening by "Singing in the Rain." The Alpha Phi, Tau Kappa Epsilon act followed which featured songs in "Duets." The Kappa Alpha Theta's and the Sigma Chi's banded together to present their version of "Rockin in the 50's." Next John Piner provided a dazzling dance number entitled "Simply Jazzin'."

Following intermission the women of Delta Gamma and Ross Hall men invited the audience to a "Celebration!" Next, the Delta Delta Deltas and the Phi Kappa Psi joined in nuptial harmony in "Rice, Rings, and Sentimental Things." They were followed by the Kappa Kappa Gammas and Sigma Nus performing selections from the 40's in "Struttin' in Style." The final act was performed by the Alpha Chi Omegas and the Lambda Chi Alphas, and it encouraged audience members to "join the Circus."

Each performance was evaluated for harmony, musical interpretation, choreography and stage presence.

First place was captured by the women of Delta Gamma and the Ross Hall men. Second went to the Delta Tau Deltas and Schwitzer women. Third place was awarded to the Alpha Chis and Lambda Chis. A new award for the audience's favorite was received by the Sigma Chis and the Kappa Alpha Thetas.

Along with these awards, special awards presented by the YMCA were also mentioned at Spring Sing. The Lambda Chi Alphas received the Lamp of Wisdom organizational service trophy of Butler University. Also presented were the prestigious freshman awards based on outstanding scholarship, leadership, and involvement. These awards went to Tom Goodwin of Phi Kappa Psi and Lisa Muscara of Schwitzer Hall.

The 1984 Spring Sing was under the direction of Lisa Uesugi of Delta Gamma and Dave Calabro of Tau Kappa Epsilon.

The all-campus event has been a tradition on Butler's campus that has improved with age. This year the event was held in the parking lot next to the Phi Psi house. The course was also more difficult as curves were formed with straw bales.

Brad Gillum was the chairman of the event, which included the mini-bike race, tire relay, and queen contest. The race included five men from each house appropriately dressed and supplied with a minibike. The three preliminary heats consisted of five laps, one for each rider. The women parked with the men and worked as pit crews, changing riders and equipment. The final race consisted of racers with the three best times from the earlier heats. The men of Tau Kappa Epsilon, Ross Hall, and Lambda Chi Alpha made it into the finals and rode ten laps for the final race. After penalties were assessed and times confirmed, the men of Ross Hall came in first followed by the TKE's.

The women competed in the tire relay. The women of Delta Gamma won this event. Sheryl Matthis of Kappa Alpha Theta won the crown as "Queen of the Pits" and Leah Brandon of Kappa Kappa Gamma received second-place honors.

A special plaque was given to the women of Kappa Kappa Gamma in memory of the 1983 Queen of the Pits, Jayne Goode.

The women of Delta Gamma went all out for this year's Splash, which featured several events judged for competition as Indy's famous disc-jockeys, Bob and Tom from WFBQ, hosted the afternoon's activities.

Each male housing unit, paired with a female housing unit, was coached by two women from Delta Gamma as they choreographed and practiced routines for the annual synchronized swim competition. The men of Tau Kappa Epsilon captured first place splashing to Greased Lightning.

Other events included swimming relays with the paired housing units. The men of Phi Kappa Psi and the women of Delta Delta Delta stroked and snorkled their way to win the event.

The last event, the "Tasmanian Yahoo," featured one man from each team paddling his way across the pool on an innertube while screaming "YAHOO!" The men of Phi Kappa Psi captured that event.

Throughout the afternoon, each housing unit entered a contestant in either the Miss Mermaid or Mr. Anchor Splash contest. The women of Kappa Alpha Theta and the Men of Sigma Chi took first place honors in this event.

Points were tallied and the awards were presented. The men of Phi Kappa Psi and the women of Delta Delta Delta took the overall winner award.

The scene of graduation.

Indiana weather performed as usual for the crowd of over 4,000 who attended Butler's Commencement on Sunday, May 13. What began as a cool, dreary afternoon ended in bright sunshine and blue skies.

The platform was decked with the colorful banners depicting each college of the University plus flags from every state and country represented in the graduating class.

Max S. Norris, M.D., '42, chairman of the University's Board of Trustees, welcomed over 500 graduates, their families and friends to the Hilton U. Brown Theatre and Butler's 129th Commencement.

In his charge to the graduating class, President John G. Johnson said, "You are not graduating into a state or even a nation, but truly into the world. I, for one, am enthusiastic about the marvelous opportunity you have before you."

He then conferred six honorary degrees upon recipients who have outstanding records as citizens and public servants. The recipients were: Dr. Wayne Clayton Booth, Doctor of Humane Letters; Howard C. Caldwell, Jr., Doctor of Letters; Dr. Francis E. Cislak, Doctor of Science; John H. Johnson, Doctor of Humane Letters; Katherine D. Kane, Doctor of Public Service; and John B. Smith, Doctor of Laws. Caldwell graduated from Butler with his A.B. in 1950, and his M.S. in 1968.

The Class of 1984 invited Professor James Watt of Butler's English Department to give the Commencement address. His topic, "The Substance of Things Hoped For," was most appropriate. He told the graduates, "There is no conflict between knowledge and value. Every piece of knowledge has a value; every value depends on knowledge.

"The diploma you receive is a statement of faith . . . , the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen."

GRADUATION

The Moment finally arrived after four long years.

The graduation ceremonies were not the only activity to occur over the weekend, however. The Thursday preceding, about fifty members of the Class of '84 gathered at St. Maur for a picnic sponsored by the Class of '84 and Mortar Board. Those in attendance had a good time.

Saturday afternoon, May 12, Senior Class treasurer Charles R. Goff welcomed graduates, their families and friends to the Baccalaureate ceremonies held at Fairview Presbyterian Church. Reverend James Stender of the Butler Campus Ministry gave the address and a Senior Ensemble, conducted by Dr. Jack Eaton provided the music.

That evening, at the Atkinson Hotel, the Alumni Association hosted their first Senior Class Dinner in honor of their newest members. Ms. Toni Su Ax, '62, president, explained the objectives of the dinner, "to celebrate the attainment of an important milestone in your life, to recognize your accomplishments, and to welcome you into the Butler University Alumni Association."

The seniors also presented five Excellence in Teaching awards to Dr. Harry Hicks, Dr. Philip St. John, Dr. O. LeRoy Salerni, Mrs. Martha S. Zetzel, and Dr. James Briscoe.

Overall, the weekend was very busy and exciting time for the members of the Class of '84.

Friends and family enjoyed the ceremonies.

Outstanding Students Bethany Holycross and Jeffery Johnson.

The 22nd annual Student Recognition Banquet was held on April 6, 1984. The Banquet is sponsored by the Butler University Alumni Association as a means of honoring students who have distinguished themselves in academics and extra-curricular activities on campus.

These students were nominated by other students, faculty, and administrative staff. At a reception hosted by the Alumni Association, all nominated students and the Student Recognition Committee voted to select the top-ten male and female students from the pool of candidates.

The top-ten women were Jennifer Aikman, Kerry Aikman, Lorie Jean Golichowski, Lori Hardin, Bethany Holycross, Jill Lear, Coleen McGarry, Elizabeth O'Connell, Susan Pippenger, and Michele Sauer. The top-ten men were Arthur Allen, Kevin Ault, John Brand, Robert Dauber, Steve Gerber, Jeffrey Johnson, Jeffrey Linton, M. Scott Maynard, James McMechan, and Tim McRoberts.

From this list of twenty, one outstanding female and one outstanding male were chosen. The Outstanding Male was Jeffrey Johnson, a senior political science major. The Outstanding Female was Bethany Holycross, a fourth-year pharmacy student. Both students were extensively involved in campus, community, and academic activities.

Those attending were welcomed with remarks by Carl W. Henn, president of the Alumni Association. Remarks from University President John G. Johnson followed. Butler alumna and former Outstanding Student Jamie Phillippe-Barry presented awards.

The Director of Alumni Relations, Duke Haddad, was very pleased with this year's banquet. "We have a lot of programs dealing with students, but by far the most important is the Student Recognition Banquet. We had approximately 390 people this year and attendance has gone up and up. All these people come together for one purpose: to honor the Students," he said.

Family, friends, and nominees listen to Alumni President Carl Henn.

Dan Roeske in the Romantic Festival

Dance has long been an integral part of Butler University. The three major dance activities this year were the "Nutcracker," Senior Productions, and the Romantic Festival.

The Butler Ballet and the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra teamed up to perform Peter Illyich Tchaikovsky's famous ballet, "The Nutcracker." It has become an annual Christmastime event. This year's performances were December 1-4 in Clowes Hall. It was particularly successful as four out of five performances sold out. The ballet company also went on a road trip to Danville, Illinois. Jeannette Ally, Karl Kaufman, and Bud Kerwin choreographed the production, and Michele Jones, Ned Hannah, Becky Burke, and Kathryn Deem danced in the lead roles.

Senior productions are independent study projects which dance majors do as part of their graduation requirements. It gives them a chance to assume the duties of choreographer; each student chooses his own music and cast, does the choreography, organizes rehearsals, is in charge of costumes, and plots the lighting. The seniors involved in this year's production included Madeline Reiss, Stephanie Rickel, and Donald Roeske. A graduate student and four juniors also staged their independent projects; they were Patricia Etzkorn, Kris Bushor, Donald Hannah, Andrea Iovanisci, and John Piner. Piner's project, entitled "Simply Jazzin'," was extremely successful and was performed during the Pizazz concert and Spring Sing.

Another traditional event at Butler is the Romantic Festival. Held April 28-29, this year's theme was "The Mighty Five" in honor of five Russian composers, Balakirev, Borodin, Cui, Musorgsky, and Rimsky-Korsakov. The chorale sang songs in Russian, and dancers performed to Russian music as the Butler Symphony Orchestra played pieces by the featured composers and others. Two other major attractions of the festival were the concert of Russian violinist Viktoria Mullova with the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra, and the performance of a Russian Pianist, Boris Bloch.

Missy Butler and Cameron McGuire from "Why Marry?"

Drama students demonstrated their talents this fall in Butler Theatre's productions "Close Ties" and "Why Marry?"

"Close Ties," written by Elizabeth Diggs, is about the conflicts found within the Frye family. The head of this family was Josephine, the 84-year-old grandmother whose senility led to problems and family quarrels. Prill Gilb liked the play, saying, "It was very moving. It was something people could really relate to. Many families go through the same thing."

Margaret Roberts, the only actor not from the Butler Theatre Department, played the slightly senile grandmother. Other actors included Geoff Hybarger, Laura Joniskan, Peggy Witt, Cindy Gary, Julie Fuller, Ivan Fuller, and Chuck Ciriello.

Butler's second theatrical production, "Why Marry," was a comedy about a "modern woman's" problems in the early 1900's.

"Why Marry," written by Jesse Lynch Williams in 1914, and directed last fall by Daniel W. Pugh, explores the pros and cons of marrying either for money or for love. Helen, played by Cindy Gary, was confused about whether to say "yes" to her boyfriend's proposal. Since she is a "modern woman," an independent woman who did not believe in marriage, she insists that accepting his offer would betray the sincerity of their love. Missy Butler portrayed Helen's sister, Jean; she has a marriage dilemma of her own. Her brother John, played by Kerry Karner, was pushing her to marry their rich neighbor. The rest of the cast consisted of Terry Townsend, Geoff Hybarger, Phyllis Anderson, Tim Miller, Cameron McGuire, Kevin West, and Peggy Witt.

Maureen Reagan talks to people after her talk.

Jonathan Randall speaks on Reagan's lack of policy concerning Lebanon.

Butler's Student Assembly had a very busy year providing Butler students with the necessary ingredients to insure that everyone had a fun-filled year. Student Assembly programs started early in the year with the approval of a late-night study room in Gallahue Hall. The year also opened with new officers. Jeff Linton was promoted to First Vice President, and Peter Brady was elected Treasurer.

The first special event sponsored by Student Assembly occurred on September 29, 1983 when Washington Post correspondent Jonathan Randall addressed students at Clowes Hall on the policies of Ronald Reagan concerning Lebanon. Tickets were made available to students through another one of S.A.'s new programs, the Student Information Center located in the south lobby next to the C-Club. Located at the Center were all the tickets and information about upcoming events on Butler's Campus.

Student Assembly also got involved with many other events. Racquetball nights were held throughout the school year. Also, the traditional film series was continued on Friday nights, and extended to a Sunday night film festival. A change in the Honors Program was also achieved by Student Assembly.

The Spring Semester opened with a concert in Clowes Memorial Hall by comedian David Brenner. The sold-out event was made available to students at a discounted price, while the concert sold well in the greater Indianapolis area at full price.

Also in the Spring Semester was a lecture by Maureen Reagan. Her talk on the political opportunities for women was well received by the mostly female audience in Clowes Hall.

Second semester also saw the election of Jeff Linton to Student Body President.

The year closed with the most successful Spring Weekend ever. In addition to all the normal events, sidewalk painting contests and the Mr. Butler parade, this year's event was bigger than ever. Students could rent out hot-tub time at a local business or take a controlled ride in a hot air balloon right on campus. Athletic competitions also occurred during the weekend.

Under the leadership of presidents Jeff Johnson and Jeff Linton, Student Assembly had a very spectacular year.

Fort Slocum.
Deserted of human existence
Large brick buildings centered a park with trees.
Rows of abandoned stores that are not sold out.
Antiques For Sale

no sun, gray

Three statued mannequins in wedding gowns dim with dust and aged webs

A house, a room, stairs, and yet another room.
Opened shutters to a wonderful view.
I pierce out.
Other rooms have a better view.
I must show it to someone.

Approaching the upstairs door, entering to see a window straight ahead
a portrait to the left,
a man, a captain
a ghost.
He appears, not startled am I older then his portrait
I leave

To the rowboat I go, accompanied still dim gray, clouding
the dock is decrepit, the boat old a canoe that tips and flips
I struggle.

Destination arrives.
Invisible and secret, spattered pieces of broken glass to barefoot natives.

He'll don a hat, then Time and smile in hand
Head down to eat, observe, too loudly laugh —
No sense in caring what small others think He'll turn the page, then murmur "derelict."

Back in the makeshift darkroom he'll appear
Along with black-and-whites from murky pans
The photographs, enclosed in cards then mailed,
Have helped begin a friendship, warm cold hearts.

As friendships goes, he offers all he is —
And satisfies with nothing less he'll push
Until he's scraped your soul, pried loose your dreams
He doesn't stop with looking — got to touch.

Juxta-Chill

By Matt Taylor

Cold, cold, bitter cold
It's taken human lives untold
Knocking down the strongest man
In the frozen Northern land.

Cold, cold, Wintery cold
Rips down walls and then takes hold
Pierces through to every part
Almost to our life, the heart.

Cold, cold, chilling cold
But we inside by heat are lulled
To sleep by embers warming red
And many dreams dreamed in our head.

Cold, cold, sometimes cold
We wait it out then watch unfold
A spring of beauty, life, and grace
A cool wind blowing in our face.

Cold, cold, where's the cold
It's Summer now with flowing gold,
Flaming orange and soft sky blues
Flowers dappled many hues.

Cold, cold Falling cold
Along with leaves of colors bold
Autumnal breezes, sharp but fine
Bring summer memories to my mind.

Cold, cold, cyclic cold
It's like a story oft retold
For Winter's come and soon shall be Another season's memory.

It's not Dover Beach
but the sun fades in the west over half a world away
And the golds and the reds across the Pacific are rivaled nowhere in the world

I have watched the ebb and flow of the tide carefully and slept soundly to the rhythm of the waves the ocean is a timely and persistent friend

Somehow
in moments like these
I always think of you your love reminds me of this scene strikingly beautiful and the motion and sound of the sea are like your love
Rhythmic and dependable, slow and stately but with latent passion warmly, softly rocking me to sleep

Sister

I

We are bad copies of one another.
We were dropped into similar sacks;
we ride in the same bones.
Our eyes slant in one fine line.
Our lips curl into mirrored sneers.
We are each other's first person singular.

II

We have been wedged apart — driven into angry circlings like two starving cats (which we are).
We fatten our skinny guts on the same prey and fight for the rotting carcass.
We guard our narrow alleyways with ease.
They lie opposite one another on the same street.

III

Let me move you into a softer light.
Let me hide the flaws of your face by setting you in a dark and quiet frame.
I want to study you in the dark,
to learn your look in the unfamiliar contour of shadow.

New Appointments And Retirements

Butler welcomed two new administrators to campus this past fall. Patricia K. Meszaros came from the New Mexico State University to become the new Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences. Robert P. Kirsch also accepted the position of Director of Alcohol and Drug Prevention and Intervention. Mr. Kirsch had previously attended Butler University.

The close of the school year also saw the retirements of four faculty members. Dr. Amend joined the Butler faculty in 1953 and taught English. Professor Dunlap began teaching English at Butler in 1964, although he originally taught English at Georgetown University in 1947.

Dr. Kaplan joined the Butler faculty in 1963. She recently served as Media Center Director and also as interim librarian. Dr. Rooker headed the graduate program in Education at Butler. He began his career with Butler in 1961.

All four of these individuals have been granted emeritus rank by the Board of Trustees. We all wish them the best success in the future.

Editor-in-Chief Bill Fecher takes care of some paperwork.

Well, here it is. The 1983-84 Carillon, Volume 2. After working on the first volume of the book, it seemed hard to come back and do another one. It seemed even harder to believe that there would really be another one. There was, I did, and here it is.

Any work of this magnitude takes a lot of people to put together. In addition to the staff who did all the work that was asked of them and more, the editors made my job a lot easier. This book is the best this campus has seen in years. All who helped deserve my thanks.

In addition to the students who worked on the book, there are also some faculty members who deserve recognition. First is Terri Johnson. It seemed that whenever we needed an extra push, she was always there to get us going again. Also, Bob Stalcup provided many pictures that we could not that were instrumental in finishing this book.

I would also like to thank Dr. Paul Stewart and Dr. Lynn Kloesel. They endeavored to make this book as grammatically correct as possible. Finally, Dr. Paul Parker deserves my thanks for trying to keep the Carillon an institution on this campus for years to come. As I graduate, I hope he is successful in this task.

I would also wish next year's editors, Cindy Lee and Tom Goodwin, the best of luck; they are going to need it more than they know.

Finally, of all the non-staff people that have contributed to this book, from John Garing to Kevin O'Neal to the students in Bob Stalcup's photography classes, there is one that is very important to me. As I struggled with the details of the book late into the summer, Kitty Ossman was always with me. I can not begin to repay her for her help and support.

I hope you enjoy the book; it is a continuing record of the events that have shaped all of our lives.

Staff member Cindy Lee sorts through copy

MARCHING BULLDOGS

What would Halftime be without the marching band? Pretty boring, that's what. The marching Bulldogs entertained and excited football fans between the halves and at pregame by performing their professional shows.

The 1983 band had 75 members including 12 flag women and one twirler. The band was under the leadership of Mr. Robert Grechesky, overall director, and Craig Engel, drum major.

Much work went into the preparation of each show. The group practiced six hours during the week and sometimes two hours on the day of the show. The band performed at all home games and traveled to perform at the Evansville and Indiana Central games.

What happens to the faithful marching band musicians as their togs are stowed away for the season? They become the basketball pep band and University concert band for the Spring Semester.

Senior trombone player Dave Anderson says, "The best thing about marching band is the people involved and the spirit and enthusiasm of all members."

Matthew Harrod directs the combined bands.

CHEER-LEADERS

There are five men and five women on campus who could be described as avid sports fans. What makes them different from everyone else? They dress in uniform when they attend football games because they are the Butler University cheerleaders. The five male cheerleaders are Captain Tony Bushnell, John Moses, Mark Young, Ira McAilley, and Kent Haggard. The five women are Captain Heidi Nadeau, Paula Blackmon, Charlotte Morrow, Mindy McIntire, and Sharon Grothouse.

The group was Judy Paton, a former Purdue cheerleader and NCA instructor, for its cheerleading advisor. They have two regular practices per week and usually one before a game.

The cheerleaders were very happy with crowd support this year and would like to see the student participation continue. Besides cheering at football games, they also help out with judging spirit contests and appear at events like pep rallies. For basketball season this year, they worked with the Athletic Department to promote more participation at the games.

Ten new cheerleaders will be chosen in March for the 1984-85 school year. The women are judged on cheers, jumps, a pompon routine, partner stunts, and tumbling. The judges look for ability as well as potential.

Why would anyone want to be a cheerleader? Captain Heidi Nadeau says, "Being a cheerleader means a lot of school involvement. It is a super way of getting to know people at B.U. Cheerleading is a good way to express yourself while cheering for the team. While being on the squad, strong friendships are formed between the members."

Under the net, aerial stunts.

Precision and uniformity are key for cheerleaders.

The Honeys also performed in the Homecoming Parade.

And a bow for the end of the show

Big smile for the crowd.

The pom-pom routine is not all that easy.

HALF-TIME HONEYS

The Butler Marching Band isn't the only group on the football field during halftime. They are joined by twelve talented ladies who are appropriately known as the Halftime Honeys.

These women practice from 12:1:00 every afternoon during the week to choreograph interesting and entertaining routines for accompaniment to the marching band songs. Although the women are under the formal direction of Mr. Grechesky, band director, the routines are created by, and practiced by the women alone. The co-captains of the group, Dee Fischer and Lisa Creech, are responsible for making sure that everything runs smoothly.

The Honeys are chosen at the beginning of each semester and membership is gained by auditions. Each woman performs a routine, marches, and is in a kick-line. Besides being recipients of crowd applause, the Honeys also receive one hour of Physical Education credit.

What is it really like to be a Half-time Honey? Co-captain Dee Fischer says, "It's a good time, although it means a lot of work. You can meet new people and get involved on campus."

The Half-time Honeys finish with a flash.

Painting the hallways, to make them look their best

"The best and getting better" is the newly adopted phrase of Schwitzer Hall residents. Of course, they always knew they were good, but in 1983-84 they lived up to their potential and showed Butler University that Schwitzer Hall rates at the top. Under the leadership of president Mary Phillips, vice-president Dianne Orban, secretary Anita Hale, treasurer Tammy Priest, and social chairman Jill Vandegriff, Schwitzer Hall welcomed the freshmen to campus and to an exciting residence hall decorated in different historical eras. Orientation Assistants from Schwitzer also made the first week at Butler an exciting one for the freshman women. The women of Schwitzer Hall then showed their enthusiasm to the whole campus at TKE Fall Fest, when they won the women's overall trophy. Shortly thereafter, third-year pharmacy student Trish Devine placed third in the Queen contest at Homecoming. Christmas was celebrated at Schwitzer Hall with a tree decorating party in the newly carpeted lobby, and with a romantic Winter Wonderland dance at the Ramada Inn West. Despite their active participation in campus events, the women of Schwitzer Hall earned a third place on the University scholarship rating, and brought home the Intramural sports trophy.

At the beginning of the second semester, the women of Schwitzer Hall adopted colors, red and royal blue, and a flower, the white carnation, to represent them. But that's not all. The women of Schwitzer Hall showed their colors, and more, at the Spring Formal at LaScala. Later they paired with the men of Delta Tau Delta to win three trophies at Spring Sing — first place in ticket sales, second overall, and third in the banner competition. During the show, Schwitzer resident Lisa Muscara was named Outstanding Freshman Student. In Spring Weekend, Schwitzer Hall placed first in the APO Blood Drive, and won the Delt penny run by donating $93.83. Later, Schwitzer residents were the fastest pit crew in the Phi Psi 500, and paired with Ross Hall to win the overall honors. Schwitzer Hall also became a member of the National Association of College and University Residence Halls during 1984. Schwitzer Hall — definitely getting better all the time!

Tau Kappa Epsilon

The 1983-84 school year was a busy one for the men of Tau Kappa Epsilon. The year started in TKE tradition by treating the Butler campus to the largest all-campus party, Fall Fest. The house was also host to a Pre-Keg Roll Rally for the National Keg Roll Team which was under the leadership of Eric Murphy.

For the fourth year in a row, the men at 715 West Hampton took the all-sports trophy. Academically, TKE's ranked fifth out of the eight male housing units on campus with a G.P.A. of 2.697 after the first semester.

Many members of the Gamma-Psi are very active on campus. Junior Dave Calabro was selected as one of the Overall Spring Sing directors, and Bill Fecher was the editor of the Carillon. Gregg and Eric Murphy are also athletic record holders for Butler, Gregg in the pole vault and Eric in the high jump.

1983 president Gregg Murphy also led the house into the second semester when the house welcomed 18 new initiates. This made the Gamma-Psi the largest fraternity on campus with 54 members. Mark Ciota president for 1984, will lead the TKE's into the 1984-85 school year when the house will be sporting a new $22,000 kitchen.

Alpha Phi

Robin Cox takes part in archery for Alpha Phi.

The women of Alpha Phi had another exciting year, starting off when 24 freshman pledged the house, bringing the total size of the house up to 71. The freshman Alpha Phi's began the year off right when they won Freshmen Skits.

Over Homecoming weekend, the entire house came together, to take the overall Award in the women's division for the second year in a row. Contributing to that victory was a first-place finish in the Tug-Of-War with the men of Sigma Nu.

Individuals in the house also made a big splash in campus activities. Lori Jean Golicowski was very active in Student Assembly and was selected as one of the Top Ten Outstanding Females on campus at the end of the year. Jamie Egolf also became the 1983 Fall Fest Queen.

The women of Alpha Phi also raised around $300.00 for their philanthropy, the American Heart Association.

Delta Gamma

The women of Delta Gamma finished the 1983-84 school year in high fashion by promoting the annual Anchor Splash; however, that was not the only high point.

The house reached capacity of 68 women when 21 freshman pledged the house. They used this strength to win Geneva Stunts with the men of Lambda Chi Alpha, and swept the YMCA events when they also took top honors in Spring Sing with the men of Ross Hall. Singing was not their only victory, however. House president Bethany Holycross won Top Female Student honors, along with third place in the Homecoming Queen competition.

Other individuals also took great roles in other campus activities. Susan Chester took second place in the TKE Fall Fest Queen competition. Lisa Uesugi was one of the two overall Spring Sing Directors. Other D.G.'s also held important positions on the Collegian, Lambda Sigma, and Student Assembly.

Kappa Kappa Gamma

The women of Kappa Kappa Gamma started off their year with a very active Homecoming Weekend. Senior Anne Sullivan was selected as the 1983 Homecoming Queen. Also, the Kappa Pickers performed at an afternoon event on the Mall.

Those were not the only high points of the Kappa year. Michelle Fishback took top honors in the penny voting for Alpha Phi Queen of Hearts. The freshmen, numbering twenty-one in a house of seventy, took second place honors in Freshmen Skits.

Two Kappas were named Outstanding Female Students, Jill Lear and Kerry Aikman. Also, René Evans proved to be a year-round athlete participating in Volleyball, Basketball, and Softball.

The women also raised money for their philanthropy, the Family Support Center, as they took part in many activities associated with this organization located in Indianapolis.

The men of Phi Kappa Psi finished out the 1983-84 school year with a very successful Phi Psi 500. However, that event was only the fitting end for a long and successful year.

The house started the year pledging ten men, all of whom were initiated, bringing the size of the house up to 38. The spirit of the house came through as they won the Spirit Award at three events; TKE Fall Fest, Homecoming, and Spring Weekend. They also took second place in Geneva Stunts.

The house is best known for its academic record. They regained the Scholarship Trophy this year after a one year hiatus. They had seven men on the top Butler Student's List, and claimed the top male freshmen student, Tom Goodwin. Phi Psi's also held executive positions in Student Assembly, Carillon, Lambda Sigma, IFC, and YMCA.

One of the highlights of the year was when the men at the house spent the day with Indianapolis adoptive children at a picnic in Hinkle Field house.

The women of Alpha Chi Omega had another banner year as they completed their 59th year on Butler's campus. Beginning in the fall when twenty-five women pledged the house, the members of the Alpha Chi Chapter of Alpha Chi Omega met one success after another.

The year started out bright when Michelle Martin took first place in the watermelon eating contest at Watermelon Censored. Sisters continued their winning ways by taking first place in the raft race over Homecoming Weekend. They also placed third in the Spring Sing contest with the men of Lambda Chi Alpha.

The women at 725 West Hampton were also very active in raising money for their philanthropy, Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. A high point in this school year was when Carol Harrison, nominated along with other Alpha Chi's for Top Outstanding Students, placed second in the Homecoming Queen contest. Overall, the seventy members of Alpha Chi Omega had a very fun-filled year.

Delta Delta Delta

The women of Delta Delta Delta urged freshmen women to "Try-Delta" and seventeen women responded to the call bringing the size of the house up to forty.

The spirit of these women drove them to take the spirit award at TKE Fall Fest. They followed this victory with another in the APO blooddrive. They also took top honors in the Alpha Phi Sweepstakes Overall and the Delta Gamma Anchor Splash Overall.

Tri-Delta women also played important roles in campus activities. Susan Pippenger was selected as one of the Ten Outstanding Females. Other women also took important roles in Student Assembly, music programs, and Mortar Board.

The women of Kappa Alpha Theta opened a very successful year when thirty women pledged the house, bringing the size of the house up to seventy.

The Theta's started the year by winning the Audience Favorite Award for Geneva Stunts, with the men of Sigma Chi.

The women of Kappa Alpha Theta are also very active in campus activities. Heidi Nadeau was captain of the cheerleading squad, which included her sorority sisters Charlotte Morrow and Mindy McIntire. Lisa Creech was also the captain of the Half-Time Honeys. Maureen Comerford, in addition to being the Homecoming Queen candidate from the Theta house, was also co-chairman of the student portion of the Annual Telefund. In the Telefund, the Theta team received over 300 pledges, putting them in the top three teams.

The women at 825 West Hampton, as one of the oldest sororities on Butler's Campus, look forward to many successful years.

Lambdi Chi Alpha

"Successful" is the word that best describes the 1983-84 school year for the men of Lambda Chi Alpha. The Lambda Chi's were off to a good start when eleven men associated in the fall.

Highlights of the year included winning the overall Homecoming trophy in the male housing unit division and capturing first place in Geneva Stunts with the women of Delta Gamma. In the spring, the Lambda Chi's were presented with the Lamp of Wisdom Award, distinguishing them as the outstanding student organization on Butler's campus.

As well as donating a sizeable sum of money to United Cerebral Palsy, the group also gave a lot of time and manpower. They participated in the United Cerebral Palsy Telethon on Channel 13, Walk for Joey, educational workshops, and various outings for the victims of Cerebral Palsy.

In the spring semester, two additional men associated with the Alpha Alpha Zeta chapter to bring the house size up to fifty members.

Sigma Chi

Senior Demi Allen, last year's Top-Male Student, led the men of Sigma Chi into another banner year. Pledging twenty-seven men, the men at 655 West Hampton began the year by winning the watermelon volleyball game at Watermelon Censored. This athletic prowess was also evident as they gave the men of Tau Kappa Epsilon a run for their money in competition for the all-sports trophy in almost every sport.

Sigma Chi's also played for Butler's intercollegiate teams, including basketball and men's tennis. Individually, the men were leaders on campus. Allen, in addition to being president of the house, was the number one singles player and co-chairman of the student portion of the Annual Telefund. The men of Sigma Chi were one of the eight teams that participated. The entire house is looking forward to the years to come.

Sigma Nu

The men of Sigma Nu excelled in athletics this year, having a member of the house play a key role in almost all the sports. However, they also fared well against competition here on campus. With the women of Alpha Phi, they took top honors in the Tug-of-War competition. They also won the watermelon toss at Watermelon Censored.

Individually, Sigma Nu's hold several school records. Mike Hockett holds record in the 110 meter high hurdles. Sigma Nu's also hold leadership positions as captains in many of the other sports. Curt Roy, captain of the football team, was placed 18th in the nation in total offense, Division II.

In the fall, ten freshman pledged the house bringing it up to a size of thirty-seven men. The house raised money for its philanthropy, the Children Abuse Center of Indianapolis.

Commuters

The men and women of the Commuter Association comprise almost one-third of all students at Butler. And this year, their numbers spoke for their activities. Taking part in more activities and in more numbers, this was the most successful year for the Commuters.

The Commuters made their biggest impact through individuals. Three of the senior class officers were Commuters. Kevin Ault was President, Coleen McGarry was Vice President, and Charles Goff was Secretary-treasurer. Kevin Ault was also selected as one of the Top-Ten Male students, and Coleen McGarry was selected as one of the Top-Ten Female students, as was Jennifer Aikman.

The Commuters as a group also took part in campus activities. With the women of Delta Delta Delta, they took third place in Geneva Stunts. They also did well in several intramural sports.

Under the leadership of Carole Schafer, they also became more of a unit. This year, many picnics and other activities designed by commuters for commuters went over well. The biggest gathering of the year was the annual Christmas Party.

COLOPHON

This year's Carillon, Volume 2, was printed by Josten's American Yearbook Company in Clarksville, Tennessee. The 208 page book was printed on Frost White Gloss Enamel 80 pound paper stock. Six-hundred books were produced for $13,000 at a cost of $10 to $15 each.

The cover artwork was a two color silk-screen design of Blue (#350) and silver (#329) on Baskin Street (#517) 160 point Pavey Board. The artwork was done by Josten's American Yearbook Company.

The color photographs were separated on AYC's Hell HC-300 Laser Scanner and the 8 pages of color were printed on a Niller 4 Color process offset printer.

All type was set on AYC's Autologic APS-5C photoelectric/computerized typesetter. The typeface used in the book was Helvetica, utilizing 30-36 point for headlines, 10 point for body copy, and 8 point for picture captions. The emphasis phase used bold typeface.
